Synopsis:

"Uno storia...e gli altri" (One or you) tells the story of a normal boy and a disabled girl that fall in love and come against not only problems that couples usually encounter but also the problems that 'the others' provide with their reservations, resistences and preconceptions.

[...] What will the future hold for this couple that move in a world still unable to accept diversity, all to often isolating those who do not follow the rules of "normality" and who challenge standard procedures with more difficult ones, certainly richer under a human and social profile.

It is an extraordinary testimony of the superiority of the spirit, of love, of a strong will that contrasts this incomprehensible world.
